Dev server license overview

- A dev server license is only available to customers who have purchased ConMas i-Reporter and want to deploy a dev server separate from the production server in order to test integration with other systems or test i-Reporter updates before deployment into production
- The dev server license prohibits it from being used in production
- All functions and features are available in the dev server

Dev. Server License overview

- Dev server licenses are only available to customers with active licenses for production servers
- Development server licenses cannot be used as a trial or demo server
- Customers are limited to one dev server license per production server license
- The cost of the dev server license is 50% of the production server license cost
- The dev server license cannot be deployed with the same number of users as the production server

Pricing

- The dev server maintenance support fee is 15% of the production dev server license price
- The dev server's annual support contract is free for the first three (3) months
- On the fourth (4th) month it will be billed on a monthly basis and will be scheduled at the same cycle of the production server

Example Pricing for On-Prem package with API Module

	Production Price	Dev Price
5 Users	JP¥900,000	JP¥450,000
API Module	JP¥700,000	JP¥350,000

* Dev versions of Voice Input module, ConMas IoT Standard/Professional modules do not have special pricing

Contract Terms

- An order for a maintenance support contract is required at the time of ordering the dev server license
- The first year of maintenance support is required for the dev server, after the first year it is optional
- Dev server maintenance support contracts must be renewed along with the production server maintenance support contract
- Since the support portal account is tied to the production license, canceling maintenance for the production server will terminate support portal access for the dev server
